Who does not know Bob Hughes? He lives on the hill and his laugh not long ago and Bob thought the are folks that owe him. int baby was the only one in Crittendon county. Bob sat very quiet and stened very intently to the instructions of the learned doctor. Various were these directions and some included a system of diet out of the ordinary for the young mother. The doctor arose to go. He reached the front gate, but was hailed by Bob who rushed out breathless. ...Well, Bob, what is it?" said the good natured doctor.

"Oh doctor, do you reckon it will hurt the baby for me to eat cabbage?

Crittenden county has one farmer who is a wonder. The amount of business transacted by him and the amount of eash that passes through his hands each year is something amazing. Last year this man sold nearly 1000 hogs at an average of $10 per head. This year his ambition is to market 1000 or more. He rarely has sick hogs on his farms. Cholera is unknown. He buys all the tallow that comes to his town and corn, and not an ear for sale. The lexy. Barnett, of Tolu, Ky.

and fed him four bales of hay, four 2 bushels of corn and four hundred GEO. M. GRIDER, Associate Editor. Pounds of brau. Now it is all gone, mule, hay, corn, bran and the four tow sacks he sewed together for a mule blanket-all gone and he is being importuned by some of his neighbors to "haul that mule off." Last Monday night the mule got out of the stable and Blackhawk was almost certain that his muleship could not get away at all, so he did not get up. The mule wandered on down to the creek where he fell in and perished miserably. Blackhawk feels somewhat despondent and talks very regretfully of his inability to raise a crop this season. He has a small mare and this mule finished out his team splendidly. If anybody has a seven dollar mule for sa'e they can do business as soon as Blackhawk.
